EDWARD PAYSON WESTON,
care of THE EVENING WORLD. Mr. Weston will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to walking.

BY EDWARD PAYSON WESTON.

ALL arrangements have been completed and everything is ready for our first walk on Monday afternoon from One Hundred and Tenth street. Now, I want all of you boys to be ready and waiting when we make the start at 4 o'clock.

That you may not make a mistake I want to repeat the route. We will start from One Hundred and Tenth street and Seventh avenue at 4 o'clock. We will walk up Seventh avenue to One Hundred and Sixteenth street, where it is crossed by St. Nicholas avenue. We will then proceed up St. Nicholas avenue as far as One Hundred and Fiftieth street. This will make forty blocks, or a distance of two miles.

As we may have to lose a little time in getting you all into line I want you to be ready forthwith at 3:30 o'clock. I can assure all the parents of these boys that their boys will be well taken care of. We have selected this rather quiet route because it is free of car tracks and heavy trucks and there can be no danger of accidents.

Bring Your Overcoats.

As it is liable to be rather cold on Monday I want all of you boys to bring your overcoats along if you are accustomed to wearing them. You can carry them on your arms while walking. I advise this because you will need something to wrap up in when the walk is ended and you are on your way home. I don't want any boys to catch cold and you had better take this precaution.

As I said before don't burden yourself with any special kind of clothes, as I want you to wear just what you wear at school. In other words, we don't want you to put your parents to any expense except the five cents needed for carfare on the way home. I have arranged the hours so that all schoolboys will have ample time to be there at 4 o'clock and you can get back in time for dinner. We will make the distance in less than forty minutes. That is less than four miles an hour, but it is as fast as I want you to go on the first attempt.

I find in my numerous letters this morning that some of the boys think it is going to be a contest. It is nothing of the sort. There will be no racing, and I don't want any one to try and walk faster than another. Before the week is out I will give you all a reward. Don't worry about speed. Endurance is what you want, and you will be put to a thorough test before I am through with you.

Care of the Feet Important.

It seems as if I can't get this matter straight about the salt water baths for the feet, or you boys don't read carefully what I have written. One young fellow writes me to know if wood alcohol can be used for bathing the feet. Most certainly not. Wood alcohol is a deadly poison. You must not use it under any circumstance. Get pure alcohol and dilute it in half and half quantities with water. But the alcohol is not to be used until after you have thoroughly bathed your feet in salt water. After five minutes of bathing in salt water wipe your feet thoroughly and then soap them with the alcohol solution with your hand. I have a number of letters from policemen and letter-carriers, who say they have been benefited by the use of this salt water treatment. Others write to me today and ask that I repeat the formula. Go to any feed store and get some common rock salt. Dissolve a cup full of this in boiling water (one quart). When it is thoroughly dissolved add about five quarts of cold water in a wash basin or earthen dish. Bathe your feet in that. You can make up a large quantity of this if you desire, as it does not have to be changed more than twice a week. The salt keeps the water pure unless your feet are soiled. After this use the alcohol bath and you will find that it does you great good.

All the Boys Are Practising.

I am delighted with the progress the boys are making in the matter of walking clubs. More than 300 have already started, and all say they have been greatly benefited. I was made very proud yesterday while walking through Central Park to see a crowd of thirty boys footing it along the path. They did not recognize me, so I joined them and asked where they were going.

"We are walking across the park to get ready for the big walk on Monday," one bright young fellow replied.

"What walk?" I asked.

"Why, we are going to walk with Weston, the man who walked to Chicago, and we are training to be ready."

When I appeared not to know who Weston was one of the fellow asked if I hadn't been reading the papers. They then left me and went on their way, leaving me to wonder what they were talking about. All of their faces were flushed, and their eyes sparkled with animation. I did not feel them would I was, but it certainly made me feel proud to see how interested they were in carrying out the walk.

Mud Won't Hurt You.

By the way, a gentleman writes me that he is an ardent lover of walking.

BOGUS SLEUTHS HOLD UP A MAN FOR 50 CENTS

That Will Satisfy Them Because Times Are Hard, They Tell Saloonkeeper.

Two young men went into the rear room of the saloon of Benjamin Hartzberger, at No. 78 Sixth avenue, early today and announced that they were Central Office detectives in search of cash.

Fifty cents would satisfy them, they are alleged to have said, as times were a trifle hard and money scarce. Prosecutor Hartzberger demurred, and to convince him that they meant to pay the excise man a charge of violating the telephone and called up Police Headquarters, asking that a policeman in full regalia be sent at once.

"Now will you cough up?" Hartzberger says he was asked, while he thought the speaker meant to call off the raid if the money appeared.

Hartzberger said he surely wouldn't. At this juncture came Policeman Oppenheim. The pair, who said they were Lowell W. Clark, thirty-three, of No. 88 West One Hundred and Seventh street, a salesman, and Theodore Rose, thirty-one, a hotel clerk, of No. 243 West Forty-third street, seemed surprised at the blue coat's quick arrival.

"Where are you hiding?" Oppenheim asked, and as they couldn't show them, they were arrested. At the East Fifty-first street station twelve silver spoons were found in Clark's pockets. He said he was carrying them as souvenirs. The police are trying to learn of what occasion they are momentarily the men were arranged in the Yorkville Court.

LOUIS GIVERNAUD'S LONG LIFE ENDED

Silk Merchant and Manufacturer Expires Suddenly in Los Angeles, Cal.

Louis Givernaud, treasurer of the firm of Givernaud Brothers, at Nos. 71 and 73 Greene street, this city, owners of many silk factories, and for fifty years a leader in the silk industry of America, is dead at his winter residence at Los Angeles, Cal., according to a despatch today. His death was sudden of heart disease.

Mr. Givernaud was seventy-three years old, but hale and strong, apparently, when he left here two weeks ago for the coast. He was well known in the general business world here and abroad.

In France, where he was born, he began life as a silk weaver with his brothers. They prospered and came to this country. Here their success was marked. They have silk mills in all operating more than 1,000 looms, in Haverhill, Mass., and other places. Before leaving for California, Mr. Givernaud bought a large work of bonds in Wall street, partly, he said, because they were cheap and partly to show his faith in the stock market. His death occurred last evening.

HUGHES HAS 30 DINNERS.

ALBANY, Jan. 3.—Gov. Hughes will be unable to attend the dinner of Group 8 of the New York State Bankers' Association in New York, Jan. 27. Owing to a pressure of official business he has refused 30 invitations to dinner scheduled for this month. He made his engagement for the Washington's Birthday dinner speech before the Union League Club in Chicago more than a year ago.
